

2019 Doctoral Students Program

Guidelines for Application (for PhD candidates enrolled in affiliated universities)

The CCA, within the framework of the CCA's Doctoral Students Program, offers research grants for summer residencies to support PhD students enrolled in affiliated American and international Universities in pursuing archival research based on our Collection.

Applications to the CCA Doctoral Students Program for PhD candidates enrolled in affiliated universities must be nominated by their respective home institution. Applications and nominations occur in late winter and should include the following:

- Abstract of PhD project (500 words), including the name(s) of the supervisor(s)
- Research Proposal (500 words), identifying the items in the CCA Collection of interest
- Curriculum Vitae, detailing education, professional experience, publications, awards, and working languages, as well as any other relevant information

Applications will be reviewed by the CCA and the Coordinators of the respective doctoral programs and should be received by Thursday 28 February 2019 at 5 pm (Eastern Standard Time). Final selection will be made in collaboration between the program directors and the CCA.

Notification date: beginning of April 2019.

Eligibility and Terms of Residency

The Doctoral Student Program provides a monthly stipend of $2,000 CAD to cover the travel, housing, and living expenses of each recipient for a residency in Montréal. The grant is non-renewable.

Residencies at the CCA—ranging from four to six weeks—must take place from mid-June to mid-August 2019. Attendance at a one-week seminar—a topical “Toolkit for Today” takes place in the first half of July and provides scholars with new concepts, tools, and methods for their own research—is required.

Candidates will be selected according to a set of criteria, including the originality and relevance of the proposed research, and how it relates to both the overall PhD project and to the CCA's main lines of investigation.
