About the CCA

Strengthened by its extensive Collection (archives, prints & drawings, photography and new media, library holdings) and based on its exhibitions, programs, and research opportunities, the Canadian Centre for Architecture (CCA) is a leading voice in advancing knowledge, promoting public understanding, and widening the debate on architecture, its history, theory, practice, and role in society today.

Job Summary

The Canadian Centre for Architecture (CCA) seeks to hire a dynamic, experienced, confident, empathetic, forward-thinking candidate to work for us in this high-profile fundraising role. You must have potential to develop strategies to inspire individuals and funders, some who may never have been to the CCA, and show them that their gift or grant can have the greatest impact with our world class researchers and curators.

The incumbent will be responsible for developing strategies to inspire multi-year major pledges for 3-4 flagship initiatives by the institution for research fellowship excellence, youth and children's programs, a bold digital vision to widen our audience, and that feature our world class collection. Therefore, the candidate needs to understand and embrace the CCA's values and mission.

The main responsibilities of this position are to secure major gifts, prestigious foundation and corporate partnerships, public sector support, and soiree gifts (a gala event that is currently virtual), especially in Montreal, Toronto, Ottawa and New York. We engage supporters through donor visits (currently virtual), donor video and phone calls, a virtual Soiree-at-home, annual campaigns and a museum membership program.

The ideal candidate should be prepared to grow donor-centred approaches, work in partnership with the Associate Director of Development and leadership volunteers, and collaborate with colleagues across departments with different operational styles. We already have the foundation in place for this; now we need a fundraiser with high potential to partner with us to bring it to fruition. This role requires a person who enjoys a fast-paced work style, with emotional intelligence, and a collaborative team-oriented mindset. Knowledge of philanthropy and funder trends nationally and globally are helpful. The opportunity will appeal to a fundraiser with values aligned with those of the CCA: collaborative, contemporary, open-minded and stakeholder oriented.

The CCA's generous and distinguished Board engages in fundraising and provides governance and support through an active Development Committee chaired by Stephen Bronfman. Director and long-time Chief Curator of the CCA, Giovanna Borasi, is a strong fundraiser and is engaged with Development and donor engagement.
